Suly resort provides free education for underprivileged children who would otherwise never attend school. In the last week I taught the students about environmental issues, specifically how we can make use of our sun. We constructed together a solar water heater. Coming saterday we would like to share this experience and construct anohter exemplar with a capacity of 200 liter warm water which cost less then 1.000.000 Rp for the materials (excluding the tank).

About me: Four years I worked as trainer on practical solutions for sustainable living in Central Asia for the NGO Women in Europe for a Comon Future (www.wecf.eu). In Bolivia I fullfilled an intensive course (EMAS) to make sustainable technologies from local materials. Now I can drill for water up to 60 meter, (if there are no big rocks). I have a background in development and environmental studies.

In May 2011 I started to cycle the earth to share my experience, connect communities, explore new ways of sustainable living and inspire people. I commit myself to provide 10 workshop-hours and cycle more then 300 km for every 120 Euro of donations. In this expedition I work together Chris Le Breton who initiated the official organization "Bike the Earth" and conducts the "Awakening the Dreamer" Symposium.

I am happy to Share, Connect, Explore, and Inspire in Bali
